Complete Weekly Summary Report \(Mar 29, 2026\)

Executive Summary

This week was a challenging week for the market with broad-based selling across the S&P 500 Top 20. Only 5 of 20 stocks posted positive weekly returns. XOM led the pack with +7.0%, followed by WMT at +3.3%, followed by JNJ at +2.2%.

Portfolio Status: 11 active positions. Exited: BRK-B (-3.53%), WMT (+18.28%). Top performers: XOM +54.0%, JNJ +48.7%, NVDA +23.8%. Weakness: AVGO -5.9%, V -3.8%, MA -2.4%.

Featured Stock: MSFT is featured this week with current P&L of +0.5%.

Featured Stock: MSFT (Microsoft Corporation) - Deep Dive

Why Featured: MSFT presents a compelling risk-reward scenario as it trades near extreme oversold levels with an RSI of 22.29 while maintaining exceptional fundamentals. Despite the recent -6.6% weekly decline, the stock sits just $17.44 above our protective trailing stop, demonstrating disciplined risk management on a marginally profitable position.

Key Insights

Oversold Opportunity: With RSI at 22.29, MSFT has reached deeply oversold territory while maintaining a small +0.5% open profit and strong trailing stop protection at $339.33

Analyst Conviction: Wall Street remains exceptionally bullish with 56 Buy ratings versus only 1 Hold, targeting $589.90 for potential +65.3% upside

Fundamental Strength: Revenue growth of +16.7% to $305.5B combined with industry-leading 47.1% operating margins demonstrates Microsoft's competitive moat remains intact

Technical Assessment

The technical picture presents mixed signals with MSFT in a confirmed downtrend but approaching potential reversal levels. The RSI of 22.29 indicates severe oversold conditions rarely seen in quality large-caps, while the ADX of 30.95 suggests moderate trend strength. The negative MACD of -9.352 confirms bearish momentum, but such extreme readings often precede mean reversion moves. Our trailing stop at $339.33 provides downside protection while allowing participation in any potential bounce from these oversold levels.

Fundamental View

Microsoft's fundamental profile remains exceptionally strong despite recent price weakness. The company trades at a reasonable 18.9x forward P/E for a business generating 34.4% ROE and maintaining industry-leading 47.1% operating margins. With $305.5B in revenue growing at +16.7%, Microsoft continues to demonstrate the scalability of its cloud and productivity franchises. The 76% institutional ownership reflects continued confidence from sophisticated investors, while the disconnect between fundamental strength and technical weakness suggests a potential value opportunity.

The "Glass Window" Thesis

Bull Case: Microsoft's 70% historical win rate and +38.7% total return in backtesting demonstrate consistent outperformance, while the exceptional ROE of 34.4% and unanimous analyst support with 56 Buy ratings targeting $589.90 suggest significant undervaluation at current levels.

Bear Case: The confirmed downtrend with negative MACD of -9.352 and poor news sentiment at 2.4/10 indicate continued pressure, while the 50% probability bear scenario suggests further downside risk could test our trailing stop levels.

Final Verdict: HOLD. Our Glass Window methodology filters through the technical noise to reveal a quality business at oversold levels with excellent risk management via our trailing stop at $339.33. The combination of extreme RSI oversold conditions and world-class fundamentals warrants maintaining exposure while remaining protected against further downside.

🎯 Price Targets

THE ANALYST CONSENSUS:

- Average Target: $589.90 (+65.3% Upside)
- High Target: $730.00

🌐 SCENARIOS (30-60 Days)

🟢 Bull: $589.90 (+65.3%) — Strong earnings report and positive guidance fuel investor confidence.

🟡 Base: $356.77 (+0.0%) — Market volatility and mixed economic data keep the stock trading sideways.

🔴 Bear: $341.46 (-4.3%) — Unexpected economic downturn or negative news regarding Microsoft's cloud business triggers a sell-off.

RISK/REWARD:

- Upside to Bull: +65.3%
- Downside to Bear: -4.3%
- Verdict: Favorable

⚠️ Risk Assessment

Okay, here's a strict risk assessment of the MSFT trade, focusing on potential failure points:

1. THREAT LEVEL: ELEVATED

* Why: The trade is against the prevailing bearish trend and has limited bullish confluence, increasing the risk of failure.

2. THE #1 KILLER:

- * Risk: Continued Bearish Momentum
- * Consequence: The price continues to decline, hitting the stop-loss order at $341.46, resulting in a loss.

3. RISK FACTOR BREAKDOWN:

* Technicals:

* Trend: Bearish - This is a major red flag.

Trading against the trend significantly increases the probability of a losing trade. The bearish trend suggests further downside potential.

* ADX: 30.9 - This indicates a moderately strong trend. While not extremely high, it confirms the bearish trend has some momentum behind it.

* Levels:

* Resistance: $399.31 - This is a distant target. The price has a long way to go to reach this level, and the bearish trend makes it less likely.

* Support: $338.93 - This level is close to the stop-loss. If the price breaks below this support, it could trigger a rapid decline towards the stop-loss.

* Psychology:

Sentiment: The RSI of 22.3 indicates oversold conditions, potentially* suggesting a bounce. However, oversold conditions can persist in a strong downtrend. This is not a reliable signal on its own.

* Confluence: 0 Bullish / 3 Bearish - This is a significant negative. The overwhelming bearish confluence suggests that market sentiment is aligned against the trade.

4. WORST CASE SCENARIO:

* MSFT continues its bearish trend, breaks below the $338.93 support level, accelerates downwards, and hits the stop-loss at $341.46, resulting in a loss of $15.31 per share (approximately 4.3%).

HEADLINE STORY:

Microsoft announces a quarterly dividend of $0.91 per share, payable June 11, 2026, to shareholders of record on May 21, 2026. The ex-dividend date is May 21, 2026.

RAPID FIRE:

- Revenue: $305.5B (+16.7% YoY)
- EPS: $15.98 (+59.8% YoY)
- Key Driver: AI and Cloud Services

SENTIMENT GAUGE:

Verdict: MIXED

The Reality: While Microsoft's fundamental revenue drivers like LinkedIn ad growth remain positive, concerns persist about AI spending and the company potentially "losing the AI narrative". Technical indicators also show the stock as oversold.

STRENGTHS & RISKS:

Positive: Microsoft and the National Association of Workforce Boards are partnering to offer free AI skills training.

Risk: Analysts and commentary suggest Microsoft is "losing the AI narrative," and technical indicators show the stock at decade-low oversold levels.

TRADER'S TAKEAWAY:

Monitor MSFT for a potential rebound given oversold conditions, but be aware of the shifting AI narrative and its impact on investor sentiment.

AI Head-to-Head Comparison

TOP RANKED: GOOG

> Reason: GOOG demonstrates a stronger bullish trend, higher revenue growth, and a better backtest win rate, suggesting a more favorable investment opportunity compared to MSFT and AMZN.

HEAD-TO-HEAD BREAKDOWN

1. TREND

MSFT is Bearish (ADX: 30.9), GOOG is Bullish (ADX: 34.4), and AMZN is Bearish (ADX: 17.1). GOOG's bullish trend and higher ADX indicate stronger momentum. → GOOG 🚀

2. GROWTH

MSFT has revenue growth of 16.7% and EPS growth of 59.8% with an analyst target upside of 65.3%. GOOG has revenue growth of 18.0% and EPS growth of 31.1% with an analyst target upside of 31.3%. AMZN has revenue growth of 13.6% and EPS growth of 5.0% with an analyst target upside of 41.1%. GOOG edges out MSFT in revenue growth. → GOOG

3. VALUE

MSFT has a P/E of 22.3, Forward P/E of 18.9, and PEG of 1.17. GOOG has a P/E of 25.3, Forward P/E of 20.4, and PEG of 2.05. AMZN has a P/E of 27.8, Forward P/E of 21.2, and PEG of 1.82. MSFT has the lowest P/E and PEG ratio. → MSFT

4. SAFETY

MSFT has a beta of 1.11, stop loss of -4.3%, and backtest win rate of 56%. GOOG has a beta of 1.11, stop loss of -7.0%, and backtest win rate of 60%. AMZN has a beta of 1.42, stop loss of -4.6%, and backtest win rate of 42%. GOOG has the highest backtest win rate. → GOOG

5. FLAGS

MSFT: Oversold RSI, Bearish MACD, High Analyst Target may indicate overvaluation.

GOOG: Bearish MACD.

AMZN: Neutral Confluence, Bearish MACD, High Beta.

BOTTOM LINE

While MSFT presents a compelling value proposition, GOOG's stronger bullish trend and higher backtest win rate suggest a more favorable short-term investment, while AMZN lags behind in trend and backtest performance. Investors should consider GOOG for potential gains, but be mindful of the bearish MACD signal.
